

Taking the Stage
And Learning to LIKE Yourself
By: Alicia Economos

Today, more than ever, many women find themselves feeling stuck, disconnected and overwhelmed. Believing they're somehow not "good enough," they numb their pain by being busy, overeating, overworking or a variety of other unhealthy habits; they settle for being spectators of their lives rather than jumping into them. If this resonates with you, please know you're not alone; women are universally hard on themselves. The good news is that you can turn that around and actually learn to LIKE yourself.

With 25 years experience as a certified life coach, author Alicia Economos pulls that curtain back on her own life and reveals how she learned not to merely survive but to thrive - despite devastating circumstances. She shares the simple tools that have helped hundreds of other women to declutter their lives (emotionally, physically and spiritually) so they too, could live wholeheartedly!

If you are ready to stop being your own toughest critic and learn how to LIKE yourself, you can experience a true sense of peace, confidence and joy despite any circumstances. Alicia takes the guesswork out of developing happier, healthier and more satisfying relationships - with yourself, others and with God. This is an easy read packed with simple but highly effective steps that will help you to live your best life! Do yourself a favor and order a copy today.

My life was like a staged production and it looked good to those viewing from their seats. However, behind the scenes it was a different story. It took nearly four decades but I learned to declutter my emotional baggage and ultimately, to discover and embrace the role I'd been created for. Ironically, the role was taking the stage. (Who says God doesn't have a sense of humor?)

In my twentieth year of life coaching I felt it was time to pull back the curtain on my own story – the good, the bad and the ugly. In addition, I wanted to share the simple but powerful tools that have helped me and my clients to live wholeheartedly; loving God, themselves and others with ALL their heart. Now it's your turn to get rid of the emotional and spiritual stuff that's caused resistance to living your best life.
